POLICY KING'S BAIL, $10,000.

JIMMY RIDGWAY HAS WORSE LUCK THAN JIMMY OLIVER.

Bond of Al Adams Doubled-Jantzen's Put Up to $7,500-Devery's Brothern-Law's Left at $5,000 -Philbin Sees Col. Murphy About Capt. Cooney's Trial.

Jimmy Ridgway took the place of Jimmy Oliver as counsel for Al Adams, the policy king, and the men arrested with him when the prisoners were arraigned before Justice Hinsdale in the Court of Special Sesssions vesterday morning.

Mr. Oliver did not leave the case gracefully, but he finally yielded his place to Mr. Ridgway, and Ridgway set out to do what Oliver had been unable to do-get the bail of the policy men reduced or at

It was just at this time that Mr. Oliver demanded to be allowed to represent Adams and the other prisoners. Mr. Ridgway told him that he had been engaged. There was a somewhat undignified passage between the two men and then a conference with the millionaire prisoner which resulted in victory for Ridgway.

Mr. Oliver's farewell to the case came when he was asked if he had the missing complaint and when he said no was called to the stand to swear to what he knew about it. He only remembered that he had borrowed it on Thursday and after looking it over laid it on his overcoat. That was the last he saw of it, he said. That was the last any one saw of it. Assistant District Attorney O'Connor swore to that fact and offered to produce half a dozen witnesses who would swear to the same thing, but the Justice said that it was unnecessary. Mr. Oliver's explanation of the missing paper was put on the record, and then Justice Hinsdale announced that every effort would be made to catch the man who had stolen the paper.

Frank Moss wanted Al Adams to go on the stand and tell what he knew of the missing paper. Mr. Ridgway stepped dramatically forward and said:

"I forbid it."

Justice Hinsdale didn't see any use of having Adams talk about the matter. Mr. Oliver turned to the Justice and said:

"Do you desire my presence any longer?"

"I never desired it at all.," said the Justice, and Mr. Oliver looked grieved.

Byron Traver announced that he would help Mr. Ridgway in the defence of the policy men. He is said to be one of Devery's lawyers. Then began Mr. Ridgway said in his argument and when Mr. O'Connor asked that the bond be raised to $10,000 he promptly fixed the bond at that figure. The other increase was also made despite Mr. Ridgway's protest and there was talk of increasing the bond of Devery's brother-in-law, Bergen, but it was finally decided not to do this. All the prisoners were discharged on the old complaint, which is missing, and then a new complaint, which is missing, and then a new complaint, which is missing

District Attorney Philbin went to Police Headquarters yesterday morning and had a long talk with Col. Murphy. They talked about Cooney, the suspended captain of Al Adams's precinct. It is believed that Mr. Philbin received assurances that Col. Murphy will try Cooney at once and dismiss him in the event of the charges being proved.

"Did you shake hands with Col. Murphy?"

"Bid you shake hands with Col. Murphy" was the somewhat curious question put to Mr. Philbin by a reporter.

"Why, of course I did," replied Mr. Philbin. "Why shouldn't I? So far as my dealings with him are concerned he has been a competent and conscientious official program, particular."

WOMAN LED THE RIOTERS. Urged On Strikers to Attack Non-Union

LYNN, Mass., Dec. 14.-A riot between Greeks, Armenians and Poles near the Kelley morocco factory last night, was led by a woman. One man was struck with a knife on the head, making a cut in which ten stitches were taken. Another was hit with a brick in the eye and will lose his sight, while others were cut and hurt.

The fight was caused indirectly by the strike at the factory. Poles having taken the places of the Greeks and Armenians. The strike at the Kelley factory has been on three weeks, and last night was the first time the men at work there had attempted to go to their homes. They have been living and sleeping in the factory. Between 6 and 7 o'clock about seventy-five Poles left the factory. There were no the bail of the policy men reduced or at least keep it at the figure placed by Justice Hinsdale on Thursday afternoon.

Mr. Ridgway came a cropper, however, and the policy men weren't dead sure that they had profited by the change of counsel when the morning's proceedings were over. For Al Adams, who had been held in $5,000 bail, suddenly found the bond raised to $10,000 and Adolph Jantzen, who had also been held in $5,000 bail, was directed to furnish bonds for $2,500, more. The others were allowed to go free on their original bonds, which ranged from $5,000 in Bergen's case to $1,000 according to the importance of the prisoner.

The corridors of the Criminal Courts Building were crowded with policy men and their friends and advisers, and when Justice Hinsdale called the case of Al Adams, the strikers were holding a meeting on Market street, but the word rapidly went around. A crowd quickly gathered, and as the men came out they were greeted with hisses and cries.

Many women were in the crowd, but the men were at first ummolested. As the River street contingent reached Canal street there was a rush and the men going to their homes were set upon by a crowd of men and women that had been waiting crowd was a woman and in a few minutes the men who had taken the strikers' places were on their way back to the factory on the run, closely followed by the others. While this fight was going on there was another taking place in front of the factory. A party of Greeks and Armenians had lain in wait for the non-union workmen, and as they walked along the street they suddenly jumped on them. Here was where one man lost an eye. He and the man with the worst cut head were taken back to the factory and a doctor dressed their wounds.

There is no Investment of $250 which will give as much Pleasure as the purchase of a PIANOLA

IT IS AN IDEAL CHRISTMAS GIFT

THE PIANOLA MAKES THE PIANO AVAILABLE TO EVERY MEMBER OF THE FAMILY.

THE PIANOLA was designed to simplify the playing of the piano. Not to play the piano of itself, as a machine, but to serve as a faithful conductor of the moods and passions of the human mind controlling it.

This is the excuse for its being, and the secret of its ready acceptance in the highest circles of musicians.

The performer does not play the Pianola. With the Pianola's assistance he plays the piano, though he may not know one note from another. By a slight movement of a lever, the nimble little fingers of the instrument that are pressing the piano keys are made to vary the force of their attack. A touch on another lever, and they hesitate, stop, bound forward again in their marvelous play. No mechanism is apparent, and the player, forgetting the Pianola, forgetting the keys and complicated action of the piano, is absorbed in the wonderful effects he is producing from the instrument before him.

Here is absolute mastery of the piano without the necessity for years of practice to make steel springs of the human fingers. Genius and wonderful mechanism saved that.

Probably this is the best interpretation of the Pianola ever put into words. It undoubtedly corrects some wrong impressions as to the nature and mission of the Pianola. It shows that the person playing the Pianola is the real producer of the music, and that the Pianola steelf simply aids in striking the right notes. To guide and direct the expression of music without striking the notes with the human fingers seems incomprehensible and impossible. Yet the greatest planists testify that it can be done with the Pianola, and it is for this reason that they endorse it. The cost of the Pianola is but $ 50, and it can be bought by moderate monthly payments

THE PIANOLA'S REPERTORY .- With the Pianola you can play every style and class of music ever composed—List Rhapsodies, Chopin's Nocturnes, the grand operas of Wagner and Verdi, light operas of Sullivan and De Koven, and all the latest rag-time favorites. In fact, with the aid of a Pianela you can play upon your plane
